Your company depends on people. People make your products and serve your most valuable asset: customers. To grow, your business needs a solid foundation of people. But hiring the right people is risky—and tough! You need a partner who can recruit, screen and hire for you. That's why companies all over the United States trust SOS Staffing Services.

SOS has matched skills with opportunities for three decades. We believe our success comes from the relationships between our associates, our clients and our company. Our dedication to our clients and employees has made us one of the largest staffing services in the Western United States. We employ more than 70,000 temporary associates annually, and that number is growing.

Our job is to find the best people for you. We provide temporary associates with many different skill levels and professional backgrounds to nearly every industry. Let our experience do the work while you concentrate on your core responsibilities.
